Assisted Living Preparatory and Update Class

For AFC/HFA Licensees, Pre-Licensees and Care Delivery Personnel

Schedule through December 2011

Paving the Way to Success In Community Based Care

To assist in compliance with: Michigan Administrative Rule R 400.14201
Administrator; Qualifications and Training in AFC
Also referred to as Critical Skill Class

A Message from the Class Developer:

Thank you for taking the time to look into the Critical Skill Class and its many elements. This class was designed to take practical knowledge and combine it with Administrative/Regulatory rule review to help prospective and existing providers of group living, i.e. adult foster care heighten your grasp on operational systems and increase your chances for success.

Having served as an owner and administrator in home care, adult foster care, adult day health care and more, I know the daily challenges. I am not an attorney or some other non-care driven person offering you theory and blind suggestion. I have lived the challenges of the care delivery entrepreneur and I speak from practical experience. It is for this reason have taken the lead in ensuring the curriculum is experienced based, including my selection of fellow instructors.

The subjects are also highly applicable for direct care workers throughout the year. Maybe you have a new worker who needs Person Centered Planning, Medication Administration or the health and safety items CPR and/or First Aid. These individuals can attend segments of the class and complete required training, often in an on-line format. You may also arrange for one of our trainers to come to your location and conduct training. All of the subjects are chronicled on the following pages. I also emphasize effective program management and marketing.

So please accept my thanks for allowing us to be of service. If you have additional questions about the class please contact Regis Berry or any other staff member by dialing 248.426.0772.

All the best,

Getting the Most Out of Your Tele-Conference and Webinar Events

Notes for Digital Attendee:

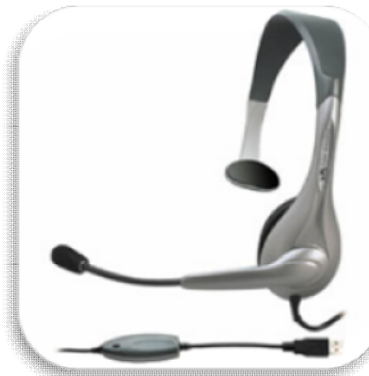

- Learn Your Computer
- Know how to adjust sound, know what equipment to use to ensure you can hear and see.
- Be open minded about technology and its advantages
- Read user guides for certain software applications such as Gotomeeting to make future experiences more enjoyable, effective and less frustrating including taking the demos on websites such as www.webex.com and www.gotomeeting.com

Buy separate speakers to use

This is important since in long-term care much of the education is going on-line from Senior Living University, Direct Care Training & Resource Center, LLC, community colleges and more.

These speakers have a USB attachment, can be simply plugged into your computer and they significantly amplify the sound. They can be purchased from BestBuy, Office Depot, Office Max, Walmart and other stores that sell computer equipment.

Obtain a headset

A good pair will cost from $29.95 to $49.95. They block out background noise, allow you a more interactive experience and ensure you can hear everything an instructor is saying. Be sure and buy one with a microphone so you also use them to talk to moderators. They also have volume adjustment capability.

It's a new day and we all have to be prepared for it.

DISCLAIMER

Note: Direct Care Training & Resource Center, Inc. is a private organization that provides training and assistance to community based care providers and prospective providers in matters of continuing education, business development assistance and general information workshops. We do not create business opportunities. We do not sell business opportunities. Many of our training workshops are approved as continuing education units for adult foster care group home licensees and administrators. As such many of our trainings do incorporate the review of regulatory statutes, administrative rules and laws that pertain to the provision of care, all of which is readily available to the general public. We are not a governmental entity and our programs must never be viewed as a replacement or substitute for State or Federally sponsored orientations, licensing preparatory meetings or any other government sponsored or governmentally mandated educational event or training. Additionally, approval for continuing education courses does not in any way constitute a governmental endorsement of other services provided by our company or any of its affiliates. Furthermore, attendance at any of our live sessions, use of our self-study materials and any technical assistance we may offer must never be viewed as a guarantee of potential business success, elimination of liability or specific financial gain. It is the responsibility of the individual business owner to work toward and create a pattern of success for his/her business entity. While we make a concerted effort to offer quality advice and teach providers the highest levels of quality customer service, clients must not look to our company to ensure they are successful as community based care providers. We cannot guarantee how long it will take to attract clients or residents and we will not assure a particular lifestyle from your business efforts. Please note that licensed adult foster care group homes in Michigan who have contracts with community mental health agencies may be obligated to receive all direct care worker and medications training through that agency or the training organization they specify. Check with them before calling our company to enroll in training programs. 6% sales tax charged on all self-study products in the State of Michigan. Special note about Workshop or other training registration: Attendees are expected to arrive 15 minutes before the actual session start time. Session start times will not be delayed for late comers. Payment should be included with the Registration Form. Mail to: Direct Care Training & Resource Center, LLC - 26300 Ford Rd. #140-Dearborn Heights, MI 48127. If you wish to fax the Registration Form, fax to: 313.557.0101 and send payment within 2 business days. Register by phone by calling: 248.426.0775. Credit cards accepted as of 10-1-2006. Refunds: If a registrant cannot attend due to an unforeseen emergency the amount paid can be credited toward any future workshop or seminar conducted by our company within one year of the cancellation. Cash refunds will not be made. Prices and dates subject to change with or without notice.
